China's Purge Intensifying

By EUGENE LEVIN

TOKYO (AP) — Peng Chen, mayor of Peking and one of the Chinese Communist party's top members, was apparently stripped of his party post today as part of the current widespread and intensifying purge of dissident elements.

Without mentioning the mayor's name, Peking radio in a Chinese-language broadcast announced the appointment of Li Hsueh-feng as first secretary of the party's Peking central committee. This was the post Peng Chen held before some of his close associates were accused of "antiparty, antisocialist" activities.

Peng Chen has not been reported seen in public for more than two months, and there had been rumors that he was marked for the purge.

The purge apparently has entered a new phase, with the party leadership intensifying its crackdown and admitting the opposition is "still very powerful." Editorials in the official Peking People's Daily and other published statements this week show that the cleanup is not having smooth sailing.

Peng Chen, now 67, reportedly ranked ninth among Red China's leaders and once was re-

Mrs. Cernan Finds Lift Off Tense Moment

By RICHARD CICCONE

BELLWOOD, Ill. (AP) — "We made it," Mrs. Andrew Cernan said today as she wiped tears away after watching her astronaut son lift off into space.

Mrs. Cernan said: "The strain is off us now, but we'll be sitting up the rest of the day and night watching and listening."

"This lift off was the most tense yet," she said. Approximately 20 persons were in the modest brick home in this western suburb of Chicago. They included the astronaut's older sister, Mrs. James Riley of Bellwood.

"We didn't let you down this time," Mrs. Riley told reporters. "This was entirely different," said the astronaut's father, Andrew. "I'm glad he's finally up. I couldn't concentrate on anything else."

Charles Biggs, an official of the National Space Agency, said the living room of the Cernan home "was extremely quiet at the moment the rocket ignited."

"I think I heard someone say, 'Thank God,' and I saw Mrs. Cernan crying quietly," he reported.

Adventists Practice For Service In Army

By PHIL BROWN

GRAND LEDGE, Mich. (AP) — For Seventh-day Adventist men, whose beliefs prevent them from carrying guns, it is tough to win recognition as a good soldier. So they practice in advance for Army service.

On a warm June day, ideal for not working, 228 uniformed young men trained from 5:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., got chewed out by drill sergeants, and studied everything from sanitation to saluting.

The men, who paid $35 each to attend the two-week tent encampment, also drew late night guard duty.

It was part of Camp Desmond T. Doss, named in honor of an Adventist who did win recognition — the Medal of Honor for heroism as a medic in World War II.

Some members of the religious group, drafted in World War I, had trouble when they told their officers they couldn't bear arms and couldn't work on the sabbath — Saturday for Adventists.

At war's end, 35 were serving hard labor sentences and 162 had been court-martialed. The 35 were pardoned, though, and given honorable discharges. The Army now makes special provision for drafting the Ad-

Young Buddhist Nun Takes Life By Fire

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A 25-year-old Buddhist nun burned herself to death today in the courtyard of a small pagoda in Da Nang. She was the sixth Buddhist to take her life by fire since Sunday in a wave of antigovernment fanaticism that continues despite appeals by Buddhist leaders.

Monks said the nun, Thich Nu Dieu Dinh, left behind a letter for President Johnson charging that "Vietnamese Buddhists were annihilated by your policies in Viet Nam."

The suicide indicated the strong opposition among extremist Buddhists to a truce negotiated by Buddhist moderates with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime.

Another development that imperiled that agreement was the resignation today of the moderate head of the Buddhist Institute, Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, the chief Buddhist negotiator with the government.

Apparently acting under pressure from the militants in the united Buddhist church, Tam Chau said in his letter of resignation: "I have tried to solve the present situation but I have failed." A special council will be convened to decide whether to accept the resignation, but Buddhist sources said this might take two or three days.

The Buddhist Institute is the secular arm of the church.

Tam Chau's announcement came as the nation's Buddhists observed the 2,510th birthday of the founder of their faith, Buddha. Calm settled over Saigon after the Buddhist Institute urged its followers to commemorate the anniversary at home with prayers for the dead in the weeks of Buddhist agitation for civilian rule. Troops hauled down roadblocks outside the institute compound.

The nun committed suicide on the grounds of the Hai Lac pagoda, a small Buddhist center two blocks from Da Nang's central market. Paratroopers and marines kept an orderly crowd of about 300 persons back, and small groups of boys and girls draped the charred remains with a Buddhist flag.

The locale of the self-immolation indicated the act probably had the approval of monks at the pagoda. The Buddhist struggle movement remains strong in Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, although Ky's troops crushed the Buddhist-led uprising there last month.

There was no word of any disorders in Hue, the Buddhist stronghold 400 miles northeast of Saigon which Ky's soldiers took control of Thursday without bloodshed.

She grabbed a lawnmower Thursday and headed for Stanley Park where the grass hasn't been mowed since groundskeepers went on strike 28 days ago.

"This place is a mess and it has to be cared for before it gets worse," said Miss Brimacombe, a student at the University of British Columbia.

SS Hike Proposed By LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a blanket increase in Social Security benefits for all those on the rolls now and those who will be in the future. He mentioned no specific figures.

Johnson said he has directed Secretary of Welfare John Gardner to have a program for increased benefits ready for the next session of Congress.

And the President promised the increases would have "a high and major priority."

Johnson's pledge to strive for higher Social Security benefits was made in a White House speech to delegates to a convention of the National Council of Senior Citizens.

Johnson told the delegates that while he has signed into law increases of more than $1.5 billion a year in Social Security benefits, "too many of our older citizens are still struggling along on shoestring incomes, suffering real hardship and real need."

Tells Ideas For Better Security At Marion Jail

SALEM, Ill. (AP) — Marion County has been told that its new jail, which was the scene of a costly jail break two weeks after it opened, could have had proper security without increasing the structure's cost more than 2 per cent.

Suggestions for improving the security of an average county jail were outlined this week in a letter by Hollis McKnight, state superintendent of prisons, who inspected Marion County's jail May 25.

He described his recommendations as routine. But Marion County officials, who had requested McKnight's inspection, said his advice is of special value to them.

Two prisoners crawled through an air duct May 12, overpowered a jailer, locked him in an office, freed two more prisoners, took weapons from the sheriff's office and fled with burglary tools used to rob a safe of $1,400 a few hours later.

The fugitives, who fled in the jailer's car, are still at large. McKnight told the county it has "a very good building, and with minor additions, it could be a secure one."

The jail cost about $234,000. McKnight and the County Board of Supervisors estimate the facilities which McKnight said (Continued On Page Nine)

TOO MANY WITNESSES
TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Thomas A. Clements, 45, of Tulsa, Okla., accused of drunken driving and transporting an open bottle of liquor, faced three witnesses against him.

Two were highway patrol troopers and the third was the governor of Oklahoma.

Gov. Henry Bellmon and his driver, Trooper Clint Derrick, stopped Clements Wednesday after following him in the governor's car. Trooper Tom Johnson arrested him.

Clements pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to six months in jail and a $50 fine.

SUES FOR MILLION IN PLANE CRASH
CHICAGO (AP) — A $1 million damage suit has been filed against Wichita, Kan., and Rockford, Ill., firms as the result of a 1965 airplane crash.

Mrs. Mary Mulligan of Chicago filed the suit in Circuit Court Thursday against Cessna Aircraft Co. of Wichita and the Woodward Governor Co. and Hartzog-Schneck Inc. of Rockford.

Mrs. Mulligan's husband, Bernard, 34, was killed in the crash in Michigan April 1, 1965. He was on a business trip from Adrian, Mich., to Lockport, Ill. Mulligan was a passenger on the plane. The pilot also was killed.

Illinoisans In Perilous Viet Rescue

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of American warplanes pounded North Viet Nam Thursday for the fourth straight day of heavy raids, and a Chicago and Taylorville man figured in a sea rescue under fire.

The Navy and Air Force attack planes hit once again at Communist antiaircraft sites—a main target all week—and also at oil depots, storage areas and river traffic.

U.S. military headquarters reported one F105 Thunderchief was shot down over North Viet Nam today. The pilot, Capt. Robert B. Pielin, 34, of Chicago, was plucked out of the sea two miles off Dong Hoi in a daring and dangerous rescue by an Albatross flying boat.

The rescue plane landed under heavy fire from Communist artillery and small arms to pick up Pielin within 10 minutes, and he was flown to Da Nang, in South Viet Nam. Bruises were his only injury.

The rescue plane included Capt. David W. Haynes, 26, of Taylorville, Ill.

Pielin's plane was the seventh reported lost since Monday when improved weather permitted resumption of heavy attacks on the North, and the 25th reported downed by the North Vietnamese since American planes began attacking north of the 17th parallel 16 months ago.

Ground action in South Viet Nam continued light as it has all week.

Verdict Murder In Fatal Beating By 4 Teen-Agers

CHICAGO (AP) — A coroner's jury has returned a murder verdict in an inquest into the death of Jerome Huey, 17, a Negro, after he was beaten by four white teen-agers in suburban Cicero.

Huey was attacked with a baseball bat in a Cicero parking lot May 25, as he sought a job with a trucking firm. He died four days later in a hospital of a skull fracture.

The inquest jury Thursday found that Huey, of Chicago, had died as a result from a blow with the bat wielded by Frank Hough, 18, of Chicago, and that three other youths took part in the assault.

The jury recommended that the four be held to a Cook County grand jury on charges of murder.

The teen-agers, who have been held on complaint warrants charging murder, are Hough, Dominick Mazzone, 17, of Chicago, Martin Kracht and Arthur Larson, both 17, of Cicero.

Relatives of the four youths and Huey sat quietly in a crowded hearing room at the county morgue until the jury retired to consider a verdict.

Then a Negro woman, Billie Gibeau, began taking photographs of the four accused youths and three women who sat close to them. One of the seated women snatched the camera and hurled it to the floor.

There were jeers from friends of the dead youth, and cries of, "You should be in jail with them." A scuffle began, but was quickly broken up by police.

Five Killed In Explosion

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — At least five persons were reported to have been killed today in an explosion at the Austin Powder Co. plant, a few miles east of here.

Both the Ohio Highway Patrol headquarters and sheriff's deputies said the first reports they received were that five persons had been killed. The plant employs about 200 persons.

Details of the blast were not immediately available.

The plant manufactures dynamite powder.

The highway patrol said its officers had not been permitted on the grounds of the plant, apparently because of the danger of other explosions. Sheriff's deputies were on the scene.

Charge Fraud By Republic Insurance Men

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Three former officers of Republic Investors Life Insurance Co. of East Moline have been indicted by a federal grand jury on fraud charges.

The indictment, returned Thursday, named Glen A. Jordan, formerly of Silvis and now of Hot Springs, Ark.; Julius M. Lytton of East Moline, and John K. Shamburger of Little Rock.

A fourth man, John Oates of Bettendorf, Iowa, formerly owner of Quad City Securities Corp. of East Moline, was indicted on charges of mail fraud and security act violations in the same case.

Milo M. Adleman, president of Republic Investors Life Insurance Co., said in a statement those indicted are no longer with the firm.

"The indictment involved transactions in connection with the sale of their own stock of the company to the public back in 1961 and 1962," Adleman said.

U.S. Atty. Richard Eagleton said no charges of irregularities in the sale of insurance by the company or its agents were involved in the indictment.

As a result of a 2½-year investigation by the securities and Exchange Commission, Eagleton said, Jordan, Lytton and Shamburger have refunded over $850,000 to investors.

JACK BENNY FIGHTS CITY HALL

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Benny fought city hall in New York Thursday in a battle of wits with New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Benny gave Lindsay a pair of tickets to an American Cancer Society benefit. The tickets were free, Benny said, because the city was on an economy binge.

Lindsay then made Benny, famed as a make-believe miser, a city consultant on money-saving, at a salary of $1 a year.

"I wouldn't take a cent less," said Benny.

Negroes Need Skilled Jobs For New Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — The only if government and private job training programs and new laws against employment discrimination have a major impact, Russell said.

The low skilled occupations in which Negroes and other non-whites are now largely concentrated are expected to grow more slowly than other jobs, Russell said.

More than half the 1.3 million gain in nonwhite employment the past 10 years was in white collar jobs but still, less than one-fifth of all employed non-whites held such jobs compared with nearly one-half of all employed white workers.

Nonwhites have made the most headway in teaching jobs, where they now about equal the number of white teachers in elementary and secondary schools, the report said.

Another area of significant gains for nonwhites was in clerical jobs, such as postal clerks, telephone operators, stock clerks, office machine operators and cashiers, the report said.

The nonwhite ratio in clerical employment rose from 3.8 per cent to 5.7 per cent over the 10 years.

Employment of nonwhite craftsmen, much of it in construction work, increased from 4 per cent to 5.6 per cent over the 10 years, the report said.

Despite the 10-year growth in jobs, unemployment for non-whites averaged at least twice the rate for white workers and will be reduced in the future.

Stafford Calls It Fantastic

CERNAN'S 2½ HOUR WALK SET SATURDAY

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts—shattering a 17-day jinx—rode a mighty Titan 2 rocket into orbit today and sped at 17,500 miles an hour toward a rendezvous with a target satellite.

After two heartbreaking scrubs, astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan finally got going on a vital, three-day flight that could bring the U.S. its second space triumph of a busy week.

"For the third time, go!" Stafford quipped as he sat in the spacecraft poised for the launch.

Just 31 hours after the Surveyor or moonship landed softly on the lunar surface and sent back dramatic pictures of possible manned landing sites, the Titan propelled Gemini 9 aloft on a vital, three-day rendezvous and space walk mission.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts executed a successful rendezvous with a barrel-shaped satellite today and reported a shroud still partially covered its docking collar, which may prevent an attempt to hook up with the target.

The big Titan, with the rays of a bright sun glistening on its sides, rose slowly from its launch pad and sped out over the Atlantic Ocean, followed by a big white tail of vapor.

"We're right down the middle," flight director Eugene Kranz shouted.

"Everything," he told Stafford, "is green and go."

"We're on our way!" Stafford yelled exultantly. "It's fantastic."

To make today's launch possible, Stafford faced and overcame the same communications problem that forced Wednesday's shutdown 100 seconds before firing.

Editorial Comment

Choice Of A Career

Among the vast flood of 1966 high school graduates, comparatively few have more than nebulous ideas about their future. Those who now know what they want to be — doctors, lawyers, architects, scientists, merchants, engineers — are rare. Those who will wind up becoming what they now think they want to be are rarer still.

It is generally thought that the most important people in helping a young person choose a career are his parents. This puts a big responsibility on mothers and fathers. It is worth noting that, in trying to meet this responsibility, they often make one of two mistakes: they strongly encourage their young to follow in their footsteps, or they strive to keep them from doing so.

Say Dad is a lawyer, and insists that Johnny be a lawyer, too. Johnny may think this is a good idea. Or he may have no definite feelings in the matter and accept it as the path of least resistance, only to realize years later that the law is not for him. Father made a mistake; he should have counseled and discussed instead of pushing to get his own way.

Or say Dad is a merchant who wishes he'd been a scientist and wants his son to major in chemistry or physics. He balks at the idea of Johnny's taking over the store and simply carrying on. But if running the store is what the boy wants to do, his father does him an ill turn by not respecting that wish.

Careers should be weighed and discussed, obviously. Parents ought to remember, though, that the final choice must be up to the son or daughter.

Cookout Season

The odor of burned meat, incense to the gods of gracious outdoor living, is drifting through the nation's backyards again. The cookout season is at hand.

It is a time of testing for the man who fancies himself as a patio chef — and for his guests. Open air culinary endeavor is not as simple as it may seem. Just getting the charcoal to the point of throbbing with heat at the right moment is an achievement often denied to those who approach the task too cavalierly.

There is a right and a wrong time to put meat on the grill. The wrong time is when the man of the house thinks the fuel is burning well but it isn't. If he feels any uncertainty about it he would do well to check with his wife, who may be occupied preparing backup rations in the kitchen — but chances are he won't bring himself to this confession of inadequacy.

The backyard chef may forget to add salt, or turn the patties too late to prevent burning, or even drop a couple of them into the fire. But he does cut quite a figure in cap and apron; however unskilled, he's picturesque. And somehow everyone gets fed. Not well fed, maybe, but fed. We might as well face it and make the best of it: the time of the cookout is upon us.

"Late Dividend" Lets Off Steam

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I think it's mighty noble of you to want to buck up the women over 40 when they write and say they are pregnant and ready to kill themselves but have you ever stopped to think about how life looks to children who are born to women past 40? I know because I am one.

My father died before I graduated from high school — of old age, of course. I never knew a grandparent. My nieces and nephews are just about my age. (My nephew went to school with me) and I was pretty embarrassing to have that little runt call me auntie.)

Please quit telling those old crows how great the "late dividend" can be. — ONE MYSELF

Dear One: Those women don't ask whether or not they should have late babies. They are "already" pregnant! I try to make them feel good about it.

As for you — wouldn't you rather have been born late than never?

Dear Ann Landers: I was adopted by a wonderful family when I was an infant. Mom and dad are the only parents I have ever known. They did not tell me I was adopted because I was a delicate child and they didn't want to add to my problem. A neighbor woman blurted it out one day and it had a terrible effect on me. Why, oh why, can't people keep their mouths shut?

Now I am going through the same thing again. We have three children and two are adopted. We have never told our adopted children about their history because we didn't want them to feel different from our blood child. Everything was going along fine until last week when we visited relatives in another state. My sister-in-law's children spilled the beans.

Now our adopted children are bitter and resentful. They say we tried to fool them and they are sullen and withdrawn.

Please, Ann Landers, tell people that it's up to the parents to tell or "NO" to tell their children if they are adopted.

Outsiders should shut up about it. — SALT LAKE MOTHER

Dear Mother: If you had grown up with the knowledge that you were adopted—as you should have—the neighbor's remark would have had no effect on you whatever. If your children had been told at an early age that they were chosen because they were very special and you wanted them very much, they would not feel betrayed now.

People talk—and they especially like to talk about other people. To expect the whole world to keep your secret was a foolish miscalculation. I have said this repeatedly in my column and I'll say it again. Adopted children should be told by their parents as soon as they learn to talk. This information, when offered by an outsider, can produce wounds that never heal.

Dear Ann: I'm 28 and engaged to marry a fine girl. Problem: I was divorced two years ago. No children. No alimony. No dirt. I want to tell my fiancée's parents "BEFORE" we marry. She says no. She feels they will take it better after we are married. What do you say? —R.R.

Dear R. R.: Tell them at once. And don't leave out any details for others to provide—as they inevitably will if you give them the opportunity.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Tailor Jobs to Fit Negro Skills, Employers Urged

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A massive breakthrough for Negroes on the job front is in the planning stage in this country.

Plans in sweeping array are being laid out and around the civil rights movement and will soon surface. If even just a fair proportion are translated into early action, the movement will gain the new direction and the force it has needed since protest demonstrations began last year to yield diminishing returns.

This reporter's private access to these groundbreaking ideas reveals them to be tremendous in number. Here only a handful of the most striking can be laid out.

—Planners want employers to tailor at least some of their job opportunities to fit the existing attributes of Negroes who classify as hard-core unemployed. This is a revolutionary turn-around. Up to now the whole stress has been on training jobless or underemployed Negroes to the level of skills required in a U.S. economy that increasingly is shunning off low-skill or menial tasks.

This new notion amounts to telling employers:

"There are thousands of job-hungry Negroes who today cannot qualify for the growing number of high-skill jobs. They cannot wait for work while they learn. We call upon you to redesign your job patterns so they can be hired as they are."

—The urgency that runs through this idea colors virtually every planning thought now being developed for the Negro job front.

The American people are about to be asked, by many white and Negro leaders alike, to treat the incredibly bad Negro employment situation as a continuing national emergency demanding extraordinary undertakings—from this moment on—by business, labor unions, churches, civic and social organizations, government at all levels.

About 12 per cent of the working age Negro population is estimated to be either without work or underemployed. The resulting restlessness and tension make volcanoes of the U.S. cities where that population is heavily clustered in 1966.

—In keeping with the "emergency" approach, planners are preparing to ask their countrymen that piecemeal assaults on the job problem be scrapped, that new organizations be set up to provide a co-ordinated, round-the-clock attack on enlisting the national energies on a kind of "domestic war" footing.

Cast into the most human terms, they want to see untrained, undertrained, discriminated-against Negroes made the object of relentless, continuing personal attention by every major element in American society. The planners want this attention to go beyond training — or reshaping the job market to take in the untrained. They want it to include inventive programs to combat the outside handicaps of family, home, cultural and other problems which plague many job seeking Negroes.

And for all of this they want a hard payoff — specific jobs promised and delivered to Negroes by the tens of thousands. Private word has it that part of the "business community" is getting ready to jump into this new arena on a sizable scale. Many business firms already have taken on a cooperative role in unfolding Great Society programs.

The most responsible civil rights planners are not openly muttering threats of "another Watts" to be visited upon the nation if it does not take up the huge endeavors they will soon call for.

Threats are not needed. From New York to Los Angeles, the rumbling of the volcanoes can be heard by all.

COMMUNICATION

June 1, 1966

Dear Editor,

A communication in the May 25th Journal comes from an irate "area resident" who voices his opinion about the Lake Jacksonville boating fees and about the Sandy Beach Project. Then on June 1st, another resident who admits he is angry protests the idea of a community project because of the taxes he has to pay to build a new city hall. If these two writers feel they have a legitimate argument why don't they sign their names to their letters so this can be debated publicly, not by anonymous letters?

To "Mr. Non-Contributing Resident" I ask, Do you know who was responsible for the construction of the lake in the first place? Who has been responsible and liable for it ever since? Evidently you have enjoyed a "free boating ride" for many years from the people who built the lake. Now you are required to pay your share for the boating privileges, and you have been invited to help further the development of the lake (which I think you'd be interested in) by a free will contribution. You resist by writing an anonymous letter suggesting that the city residents continue to provide a lake and now develop a recreation area for the entire surrounding community.

To Mr. "Irate Parent and Taxpayer" do you know the facts about the present condition of the city hall, fire department and police department? Do you know the facts behind the swimming pool? A new city hall is essential and is at last becoming a reality. The swimming pool is beyond reasonable repair.

Project Sandy Beach was not initiated by the City Council but by a church group which is concerned about the community welfare and particularly about the present swimming facilities. Consider these facts: (1) We have a lake which has been dormant for 25 years; it has tremendous recreational potential. (2) There will be no public swimming pool this summer. Now with these facts in mind, isn't it reasonable that the quickest and cheapest way of providing a place (a supervised place) to swim is to develop a beach?

This will cost money, of course, and the only way to get it is to ask for it. Perhaps the $30,000 figure frightened you. Do you realize that approximately every week that amount is spent on cigarettes in Morgan County?????

You did not write a letter protesting the free will donation for a dog pound, so now I ask you which is more important: stray dogs or swimming for our children???

Sincerely,
Calvin C. Verhoeve

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton gives no reason for his decision never to run for public office again—including the presidency—but perhaps it is because he is not "stirred up."

This was the reason he gave in 1964 for not seeking the Republican presidential nomination, which he later tried for after changing his mind.

But he sounds more positive now than when moderate Republicans teamed up behind him in an attempt to keep Barry Goldwater from the nomination. It's doubtful his chances in 1968 would be better than in 1964.

He was the reluctant dragon of Republican politics that year when New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was the only Republican who really put up a fight to try to stop Goldwater.

When Rockefeller failed, Scranton had to be practically pushed into opposing Goldwater, and then he got massacred.

His announcement Thursday that he was permanently out of the national picture came 11 days behind a similar one by Rockefeller who said he was out of the presidential running "for ever."

In the past Rockefeller, Goldwater and others at one time or another disclaimed any presidential desires, only to switch around. This time it sounds final with both Rockefeller and Scranton.

The latter said he would not again run for public office—he can't run to succeed himself as governor—under "any circumstances" and would not run for the presidency, the Senate, or Congress in "1968 or ever."

This was a lot more emphatic than in 1964 when his dilly-dallying used up time and in the end made it impossible for him to be a real contender against Goldwater. He was never more than a shadow contender.

Scranton, a millionaire, says he doesn't know what he will do when he finishes his term as governor. Would he back any other Republican for the presidential nomination two years from now?

Again he was typically cautious, saying that if Michigan's Gov. George Romney wants to run "I would give him very thorough consideration." This was a lot less firm than Rockefeller who, in taking himself out of any future presidential consideration, suggested Romney for the nomination.

Romney, like Rockefeller this year, is seeking a third term as governor and declined to talk about the presidency, at least for the time being.

After President Johnson defeated Goldwater in 1964 the latter blamed Rockefeller and Romney for not backing the Goldwater ticket. Scranton, who had denounced Goldwater before the convention, campaigned for him.

Some examples of Scranton's reluctance and indecision the last time:

In 1963 he said he would accept the nomination if he was drafted in February, 1964, he was saying a candidate for president to be effective must be "real stirred up about the issues."

He said he wasn't stirred up enough to be a good candidate although he would accept a draft. By early June he dropped mention of the draft, said he would be available for the nomination if the convention delegates wanted him, said he wouldn't try to stop Goldwater, and was quoted as saying "I don't see any basic differences" between himself and Goldwater.

But on June 12 he declared himself a candidate, called Goldwater's views a "weird parody" on Republican beliefs and called Goldwater's proposals "outlandish." He said they made Republicans look "naive." Then when Goldwater got the nomination, Scranton went out to beat the bushes for him.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Removal of Breast Deemed Safest Procedure

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I had my left breast removed because of suspicious cells. The surgeon said there was no evidence of cancer. Of what disease am I a victim?

A—If the suspicious tissues of the removed breast were examined microscopically by a competent pathologist and no evidence of cancer was found you are a victim of a policy of better safe than sorry, but not of cancer.

Q—I am 14 and my breasts are very large. Is there anything I can do to reduce them?

A—Some people are never satisfied. An operation to remove some of the breast tissue could be done but is not advisable. Taking male hormones might prevent any further development of your breasts but they would probably also stiffen your beard. Better let well enough alone.

Q—I am 16. Last month I started to have a slight yellow discharge from my breasts. What would cause this and what should I do?

A—This may disappear spontaneously but if it persists for 2 or 3 months it may be an indication of a tumor of the pituitary. If this is the case, X-ray treatments directed at this gland provide the surest cure.

Q—I have a tennis elbow which hurts when I lift anything. How can I get rid of it?

A—This is a form of bursitis and judging by the letters I get there must be an epidemic of this disease. Moderate movement is necessary to prevent stiffening of the joint. Hot applications, diathermy or ultrasound treatments and a short course of cortisone should help you if the condition has not become chronic.

Q—Is it usual for a woman to develop a lot of pimples on her face during the menopause?

A—Acne in adolescents is caused by an increased activity of the oil glands of the skin. When the regular internal secretion of the sex hormones becomes established in the late teens or early 20s the acne usually clears up. Estrogens (female hormones) have long been used with some limitations in the treatment of persistent acne. Thus it would seem logical to expect an increase in acne when the ovaries no longer produce their own estrogens. This would occur, however, only in a woman whose skin was unusually oily. A carefully regulated maintenance dose of estrogens should help in such a case.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

We, the Women

Does He Exaggerate?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Possibly, in the manner of men, he exaggerates a bit when discussing women, but one of my men readers claims it is easy to see why wives today are outliving their husbands.

"Housewives," he claims, "just don't work as hard or under as much pressure as their husbands. If they did would there be all these daytime soaps? Somebody has to be sitting around watching them — and it sure isn't the men!"

"Nor do housewives have to please a boss. They do their job to suit themselves. And some of them are mighty easily satisfied, judging from the haphazard job they do."

"Family living is planned for the wife's convenience — not the husband's. If she is close to a shopping center and beauty salon — she doesn't care how far he has to drive to his job."

"Though the husband earns the living and has to worry about paying the bills — he doesn't have much say over how his pay check will be spent. It's the wife who decides what things the family simply can't get along without — and with every raise the husband gets the list grows longer.

"She can yell at the kids all day long if she feels like it. But let the man of the house act grouchy with the children and she is immediately on their side, and he is in the doghouse as long as she cares to keep him there."

"Once the children are all in school she has plenty of time during the day to be alone. Her husband is never alone. He works with people all day and every evening and every week-end he gets 'togetherness' at home. If he tries to hide behind the evening paper she talks through it."

"And how often after a hard day at the office, when the husband is looking forward to a good, home-cooked meal and a quiet evening, his wife informs him that she didn't feel like cooking and won't be, please, take her and the children out for a hamburger."

"No wonder wives are outliving their husbands. The setup today is all in their favor."

Sunday Dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Looking for a light, different and attractive dessert using fresh fruits? Here is a particularly pleasing one, perfect for Sunday dinner.

Fresh Grape-Banana Bavarian

(Serves 12)

- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 4 eggs, separated
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 c up (about 3 medium) mashed bananas
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 2 cups halved Thompson seedless grapes

Combine lemon juice and water; add gelatin to soften. In top of a double boiler combine egg yolks, the 1-3-cup sugar, and salt. Beat until thick and lemon-colored. Add gelatin, bananas, and milk. Cook over hot (not boiling) water, stirring constantly, with a wooden spoon, until gelatin dissolves and mixture is thick. Stir in vanilla. Cook until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Gradually beat in remaining 1-3-cup sugar. Fold into banana mixture along with whipped cream and grapes. Turn into two-quart soufflé or serving dish and refrigerate until set. Garnish with whole grapes before serving.

Discuss New Park For S. Jacksonville

Plans were disclosed Thursday night at the South Jacksonville village board meeting for a new park for residents of the village.

Leo Campbell, chairman of the park committee, disclosed that there was a possibility of another park in the village to serve another area other than that being presently served by Dewey park.

Campbell said he would have further details at a later meeting.

The board approved the new tax levy for the village, and Ralph Sullivan, chairman of the finance committee, disclosed that the $22,950 levy, although $1,200 more than last year, would mean lower taxes to the villagers.

He said that during the past year additional residents had been added to the tax rolls of the village, which will mean an overall tax decrease.

At their last meeting, the board approved a $1,093,200 appropriation ordinance, which included a $1,000,000 proposal for the development of a sewer and water system for the village.

Tuesday, the village board, and members of the city council are scheduled to meet again to discuss the water contract between the two municipalities.

Harry Beasall, acting board president in the absence of vacationing Bill Fanning, announced that curbing on the southside of East Greenwood has been completed between South Main and South East streets.

In other board business, Glen Skinner, building inspector, told the trustees that the Heil florist company intends to build additional greenhouses at their present site on South Diamond.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Summer is coming early to some sectors of industry.

Auto production is tapering off fast before the shutdown for changeover to new models. New orders for some other durable goods are dropping well ahead of hot weather. Steel mills look for a slowdown for this month and next, but still count on Viet Nam war needs making up for some business lost as the auto production lines cool off.

Other factory managers are studying vacation schedules, and in some plants they may be longer this summer than last. But the traditional summer lull is far from universal in U.S. industry this time. Outside a few affected manufacturing areas, hot weather activity may top last year's, when the economy was brisker than usual.

A study of inventory trends and of the backlog of orders facing many companies shows that any economic slowdown may well be of the rolling variety. That is, if autos slip into low gear for a time, other industries will continue to boom for a while longer.

The slowdown in the car production lines is due to a decline in sales of new cars that started in April, with May figures even farther below the year ago level.

The steel outlook is partly seasonal, tied in with customary plant shutdowns for summer vacations. But the cutbacks in orders from its big customer, the auto industry, are now being felt, with better business from some users not enough to offset it. And steel inventories in customers' hands are higher than normal, probably because of worry over Viet Nam war uncertainties. This high inventory of steel could be a threat to steel mill activity in the future, if the Viet Nam war took a turn toward solution.

Orders for durable goods in general dropped 2 per cent in April from March, the Commerce Department reported this week. New orders for nondurable goods slipped only slightly.

Factory shipments also were lower in April than in March. This meant that the backlog of orders at all factories at the start of May was up $442 million to a seasonally adjusted $71.9 billion. That kept most factories humming in May, and should continue to do so this month and next.

Just as closely studied for signs of what's ahead are the figures on inventories. For all factories the total rose $625 million from March to hit $70.2 billion at the end of April.

And all this leads the optimists to predict that all still looks pretty good for the economy — give or take a few special cases here and there.

Pick Wives For Fiscal Not Physical Figures

By BILL DEAN

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — She's a bright-eyed blonde with a wild and wonderful Watusi? In the kitchen she's a regular Mary Margaret McBride?

Break it to her gently, boy. She's not for you. The way to pick a wife is the way J. Edgar Hoover picks a G-man. Find a girl who's an accountant or an attorney.

A wife should be a helpmate. Think you need help in the kitchen? Not with television dinners, not with cakes that come in boxes, not with electric dishwashers you don't.

A married man's problem is not food. It's his bank account, his income tax, his hospitalization insurance, his time payments.

It's not the chick's figure you should be interested in — it's the way she figures. The emphasis is on the fiscal, not the physical.

Right at the beginning you'll need one of those big beer coolers the girls call refrigerators. Is it cheaper to pay $3.37 a week on a time payment contract the credit department shoves at you, or should you borrow the money from your company credit union at one per cent a month? Cash? What's that?

A bright girl with an abacus in her purse can give you the straight pitch before you have time to make your first big mistake.

Marriage is the sound institution it is today because we protect ourselves against unforeseen emergencies with things like major medical insurance. All that is required from the insured is a payroll deduction, a big filing cabinet, and a clever bookkeeper with plenty of time to keep records, correspond with the medical and dental professions, and make a few trigonometric computations.

There's also hospital insurance, surgical insurance, accident insurance, mortgage, fire and wind insurance on your house, liability insurance, insurance covering repairs to the television set and washing machine, five kinds of car insurance, camera insurance, and life insurance on everybody including the dog.

In early spring comes the Form 1040. You've finally saved a buck and invested it — wisely, if you listened to a wife who has had time to digest brokers' reports and pour over the financial pages every day. Now you discover Schedule D. Do you have a long-term capital loss carry-over from preceding taxable years? Or a gain from disposition of depreciable property under sections 1245 and 1250? If you played your cards right in the beginning, you can be playing pool while your wife works this all out.

It's true the supply of lady lawyers and accountants available for marriage is limited. But there are alternatives. For instance, a girl who can repair electrical appliances will save you a mint.

Or you can fall back on the classic solution. Marry a rich widow.

Polly's Pointers Sticky Fingers Cause Woes

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Could someone please tell me how to prevent the fingers on rubber gloves from sticking together? I always have to soak them in water before I can put them on.

—M. Q. N.
DEAR POLLY — When gathering a ruffle by hand basing, I never seem to have enough thread on my needle. Now I simply put the spool on the sewing machine, thread the needle and pull it off the spool as I need the thread. This is very handy.

—MARTHA
DEAR POLLY — Since I have received so many helpful hints,

I want to pass along one of mine to help someone else. I buy liquid floor wax in the large can, not only for economy but also to keep from running out of wax when I am in the middle of a floor. I am one of those who still waxes with a sponge, down on my hands and knees, and I was always pouring out more wax than I wanted. I now save a plastic liquid detergent bottle, fill it with wax and squirt it out, just a little or a lot, where and when I want it.

—MRS. W. P. W.
DEAR POLLY — My 8-month-old son likes to be where I am when I do my housework. He sits up well but the floor often is not the cleanest or warmest place for a baby. It is terribly inconvenient to move the playpen from room to room but I have found that my large plastic laundry basket is just the thing for him. He loves to sit in it, and I put in several small toys for him to play with. I know he can't hurt himself in this basket. It can be easily moved from room to room and takes up only a small amount of space. I hope this will help other mothers of young children.

—JUDI
DEAR POLLY — When a new family moves into your neighborhood they will feel at home much more quickly if they know the names of their neighbors. Give them a list with each house number and then both the husband's and wife's first and last names, the children's names (and approximate ages) and even those of any pets in each household. Go as far up and down the street as you like. I know I became acquainted a lot easier by having such a list.

—MRS. G. V. E.
GIRLS — I think that is the nicest idea. It will also make it so much easier to really remember the names of new neighbors. Often when introduced we do not quite understand a name and with such a list to refer to much embarrassment may be saved.

—POLLY
DEAR POLLY — I use a wad of about four paper towels to apply wax to my kitchen floor. It picks up any lint better than a cloth and is disposable which

We keep a roll of paper towels fastened to our garage wall. We use them to clean hands, to wipe off garden tools before they are hung up and to wipe off the hose as we loop it on its hanger. This saves sweeping up dead grass that might fall on the floor.

Sauce for the goose is not always sauce for the gander. In a team match each East player opened the bidding with one club. West responded one spade. North doubled. East went to two clubs. South bid two diamonds and the bidding continued to five diamonds at one table and six diamonds at the other.

The three of clubs was opened against both contracts. The declarer at five diamonds ruffed, played dummy's ace and king of spades to discard two hearts and led a third spade. East ruffed with the ten. South overruffed and led a heart to dummy's ace. Then he ruffed a heart, ruffed a second club and led another spade. East ruffed with the jack and South discarded a club. East led another club. South ruffed with dummy's ace of trumps and eventually lost another trump trick but was home with his diamond game.

The declarer at six diamonds was not at all pleased with his prospects but he saw that his best chance for success was to establish dummy's heart suit.

Therefore he discarded a spade on the club. East was in with the king and returned a trump. South won in dummy, discarded two hearts on the ace and king of spades, played the ace of hearts and ruffed a heart in his own hand. Then he led a second trump to dummy and when both opponents followed he was able to ruff another heart to set up the last two hearts. Then he ruffed a second club in dummy and discarded his last two clubs on dummy's good hearts.

Six diamonds was certainly an optimistic contract but South had managed to bring it home. We aren't sure that he had adopted the best line of play and strangely enough, the way the cards lay he could have made the slam in several ways.

The famous 5-Year/50,000 Mile Dodge Warranty: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1966 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

Revision, Rewriting Of Classics Criticized

By PHIL THOMAS
NEW YORK (AP) — If a man walks into an art museum with a knife and slashes a priceless oil painting into canvas confetti he nets a jail term or at least a stretch on the psychiatric couch.

But if the same man cuts the heart out of a literary classic by abridging, expurgating, revising or rewriting he nets a fair sum of money.

Why is it wrong to "improve" a Rembrandt painting by adding a little touch of color but no sin to revise and rewrite A. A. Milne's classic "Winnie the Pooh" because you think Milne took too long to say what he had to say?

There's no quick answer, but that doesn't make it right. And the literary lady who announced recently that she planned to remake Pooh and Piglet and Owl and the rest of Milne's characters in her own image is asked to forget it.

Pooh is Pooh, or to coin a paraphrase, a Pooh without stuffing is no Pooh at all.

It was bad when they made Piglet into a nice guy in a musical comedy. And it was worse when they slashed the glorious thunder from Melville's "Moby Dick" on the ground it interfered with the story's action.

But to kill Christopher Robin? Intolerable!

Why this desire to change things of value? "Brevity," say the changers, "clarity, modernizing."

But not beauty. They always forget beauty.

Who would remember the Gettysburg Address if Lincoln had begun with "Eighty-seven years ago?"

How about changing it from "In the beginning God, etc." to "First God, etc.?" Or, how

Gemini 9

A radio guidance command that would have given the spacecraft precise steering directions failed to get through to its computer. This time, the decision was made to go ahead. Shortly after the Gemini separated from its booster rocket, Stafford fired his jet thrusters to make necessary corrections in the orbit and plane of the space ship and put it on the desired path of pursuit.

Before returning to earth, the astronauts are to perform many of the maneuvers Apollo space men will make on round-trip journeys to the moon.

A year and a day after Edward H. White II became the first American to walk in space, Cernan was to climb out of the space ship Saturday and for 2½ hours hurtle through the skies as a human satellite.

A barrel-shaped target satellite — fired into orbit Wednesday before a communications failure forced the second scrub of the Gemini launch — flashed across the Cape as the Titan roared to life.

The 11-foot-long target satellite, a tiny dot in the vastness of space, was entering its 30th revolution of the earth as Stafford and Cernan began their hot pursuit.

They planned to close in on the quarry after a four-hour chase covering 75,000 miles.

With Cernan calculating the maneuver on a computer and Stafford firing the thrusters, the astronauts made a major shift 49 minutes after launching as Gemini 9 whipped high above Australia.

The move lifted the low point of their orbital course from 99 to 144 miles.

When the spacecraft started the chase, the target was 640 miles ahead. After the maneuver, the distance between the two vehicles was reduced to about 460 miles.

The Australian station also passed word that Gemini 9 was good for at least 15 orbits. This was one of three such decisions to be made during the flight after all aspects of the mission are evaluated.

Not until they were within eyesight of the satellite would the astronauts know whether a shroud protecting it from the heat and pressures of blastoff fell away when the target separated from its Atlas booster.

If it had not, they would have to cancel plans for a linkup of the two orbiting vehicles, for the shroud covers the docking collar on the satellite. They would, however, be able to practice a series of rendezvous maneuvers.

Stafford made his first move in the chase just seconds after the Gemini went into orbit. He fired his jet thrusters to adjust the high point of the space ship's orbital path to about 172 miles.

As the rocket rose, capsule communicator Neil A. Armstrong, who commanded the Gemini 8 flight, told the astronauts they were "go for staging."

"Roger, understand we're go," Stafford replied. When the second stage separated, Stafford saw the ignition of the boosters on his spacecraft. "We have a beautiful fireball," he said. "It's fantastic."

When the 138-foot gantry was pulled away from the spacecraft this morning, and light broke into the capsule, Cernan murmured: "Oh, boy!" Stafford added, "It's a great day."

And it was. Proving that third time is charm, the Titan vaulted off its pad at 9:39 a.m. EDT, riding its blazing trail of hot gases to more than 100 miles out into space.

By the time the space ship settled into orbit, the target satellite had sped 428 miles ahead of them—and the chase was on. It was to terminate high over the western Pacific about 2:30 p.m.

This would be two hours less than the time the Gemini 8 astronauts took in March when they executed history's first space union with an Agena satellite.

During today's chase, command pilot Stafford was to maneuver Gemini 9 in much the same manner that Apollo astronauts will guide space ships leaving the moon for return journeys to earth.

All three days of the Gemini 9 flight plan were packed with important, action-filled tests. The plan was to be altered in flight, depending on whether or not the satellite remained locked in its shroud.

Still patiently optimistic despite past disappointments, Stafford, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Cernan, a Navy lieutenant commander, were reported "intent and ready" as they rode back today to Pad 19.

Twice before, the astronauts had sweated out the countdown, then dejectedly rode the slow elevator back to the ground when the mission was scrubbed. As they entered the elevator today, they grinned broadly when they read this sign on the door:

"Tom and Gene: Notice, the down capability for this elevator has been removed. Let's have a good flight." It was signed, "The spacecraft crew."

Surveyor

the moon's equator.

Others of the series were remarkably detailed, some showing items as small as one-eighth of an inch. Scientists, after studying results of the full-circle sweep, plan later to turn the camera back to snap interesting areas.

The 620-pound spacecraft settled gently on its three shock-absorbing legs early Thursday after a spectacularly successful 63-hour voyage over a quarter of a million miles.

Scientists said the accomplishment put the Surveyor program — an effort involving plans for a total of seven Surveyor shots at a cost of $725 million — ahead by one year.

The feat, history's first truly soft landing on the moon, was hailed as a significant advance in the race to land men on the lunar surface by 1970.

It also brought from President Johnson, along with praise, a renewed call for preserving the reaches of space for peaceful, scientific activities.

"Overnight," Johnson said, "the eyes of Surveyor 1 have become the eyes of the world on the moon. Another exciting chapter in the peaceful exploration of the universe is open for men to read and share."

The Russian camera-carrying Luna 9 — a 200-pound ball designed to survive an impact that would have killed a man — sent back nine moon pictures Feb. 3. Russia, like the President, has proposed a treaty and barring of weapons from celestial bodies.

United Nations Secretary-General U. Thant, in a congratulatory telegram to the President, said the U. S. achievement and recent statements by the United States and Russia on the need for a treaty on moon exploration "should give us all renewed faith in our ability to work together towards the establishment of a meaningful peace on our planet."

Like Thursday's series of 144 pictures, those from Surveyor today showed the undamaged spacecraft, the terrain around it and the distant horizon.

River Returning To Normal Level

BEARDSTOWN — Although some low-lying farm areas in the Sangamon Valley section, east of Beardstown, still are underwater, the Illinois river is falling rapidly here.

Tom Phelps, local observer, said Thursday the stage was 16 feet, which is three feet lower than the crest of last week.

The stage is expected to continue to recede to a normal reading of 9-10 feet in the next week.

Water probably will run off low farm fields at a slower rate, but farmers are hopeful their fields will be clear and dry in time to replant corn, some of which was "drowned out."

Two farm roads, which were flooded for several days, are now "high and dry" and the dust is curling skyward when traffic moves.

On ground which has not been flooded, the corn is popping up in good shape despite the unseasonable cold.

McKnight listed these items as added facilities needed for a secure jail:

Bright lights around the building, a high fence to keep passersby from communicating through cell windows with prisoners, bars over all openings such as vents or sky lights, and heavy screen over any opening through which contraband could be handed to a prisoner.

He recommended a special room in which three or more prisoners could meet visitors simultaneously requiring but one guard to supervise them.

Steel cabinets in which tools and weapons are kept should be heavily locked and anchored to a floor or wall, he said.

McKnight even pointed out that the jail's current rods could be used as weapons, and said bunks designed for inebriated prisoners were not close enough to the floor to prevent injury from a fall.

garded as a possible successor to Mao Tse-tung. He has not been openly accused, but there have been hints that he was involved with three men charged with wanting "to overthrow the leadership of the Chinese Communist party."

These three, whom Peking repeatedly has accused of being traitors, are Wu Han, the vice mayor of Peking; Liao Mo-sha, a member of the Peking party central committee, and Teng Tu, former editor of the Peking People's Daily.

The campaign against dissidents started last November as a crackdown on intellectuals. It has broadened, with Peking's official publications calling it a life and death struggle. They also note that the Hungarian uprising almost 10 years ago started with an intellectual revolt.

The People's Daily acknowledged Wednesday that the campaign was of "purge proportions," saying it had swept away "a horde of monsters" entrenched in ideological and cultural positions.

Korean Tiger Division reported killing 32 Viet Cong in two brisk engagements Thursday night and this morning.

The Korean troops are attached to units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and Vietnamese units in the combined Operation Crazy Horse. This is a continuing sweep about 20 miles north of An Khe and 270 miles northeast of Saigon and has been going on since May 16. The U.S. command credited the combined force with killing 380 Viet Cong since then and capturing 31, while sustaining light casualties themselves.

American pilots flew 73 missions over North Viet Nam, the third highest number this week and 10 less than the peak number Monday. The number of planes involved was not disclosed, but at least four planes probably were involved in each mission.

Over South Viet Nam Thursday, American pilots flew 346 sorties in support of ground troops while the Vietnamese air force flew 83.

The Strategic Air Command's B-52 bombers returned Thursday night to hammer suspected Viet Cong troop concentrations 30 miles west of Quang Ngai city, which is on the central coast of South Viet Nam. The giant bombers hit the same target the night before.

Johnson Ladies Have Secrets And Troubles

NEW YORK (AP) — For the Johnson ladies in New York this was the day that was:

— Luci decided on her trousseau, but wasn't telling who designed it.

— Police, responding to a neighbor's complaint about noise, visited a party attended by the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had left by the time police got there.

— Lynda's car got a parking ticket.

Much of Thursday was spent in the presidential suite of the Hotel Carlyle, where the First Lady, her daughters and three of Luci's bridesmaids looked over the creations of some of America's top designers.

Among the clothes they picked out were Luci's wedding dress and trousseau for her Aug. 6 marriage to Patrick J. Nugent. But what the clothes looked like and who designed them were secret.

It's the prerogative of a bride," said Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary.

Lynda, 22, was seen in two Fifth Avenue stores but didn't buy anything. She did acquire a green $15 parking ticket, slapped on her car while she and a secret serviceman had lunch at a restaurant.

The party which wound up the day and brought the police was held at the home of Mrs. Albert Lasker on Beekman Place.

Police didn't name the neighbor whose call brought two men in blue at 1:15 a.m. today, 10 minutes after the First Lady had left the party.

The policemen asked Mrs. Lasker to cut down the noise. They then waited outside the house until two windows on the second floor where the dancing was taking place were shut.

The band stopped playing about 1:30 but Lynda didn't leave until 2:20. Asked if she had enjoyed the party, she smiled and nodded her head vigorously.

Luci, 18, missed the party, having returned to Washington. Lynda and her mother fly to Texas today for Lynda's graduation Saturday from the University of Texas.

Rowers In Ocean Get Unexpected Visit From Sub

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Two English journalists are apparently making some headway in their efforts to row across the Atlantic in a 15-foot rowboat.

David Johnstone, 34, and John Hoare, 29, were paid an unexpected visit Thursday and found out they had advanced 98 miles toward England since departing Virginia Beach May 21.

The radar of the submarine Cutlass spotted the rowboat named Puffin at a distance of about nine miles, prompting Lt. Commander Lewis B. Sykes to order his men to maneuver the sub to the rowboat's side.

Asked if they needed assistance, Hoare and Johnstone replied they were doing fine and had every intention of continuing with their venture.

Sykes told the pair they were 98 miles east-southeast of Cape Henry — a progress of 64 miles since they were last seen Saturday night.

At that time the freighter American Tide east-northeast of Cape Charles, Sykes explained that a brisk northeast wind was responsible for pushing the Puffin southward from her last reported position.

Astronaut's Wives Excited Over Launching

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An excited Fay Stafford told newsmen today she was relieved her husband, astronaut Tom Stafford, was shot into space aboard Gemini 9 after two delays, but already yearned toward a safe end of the mission.

Mrs. Stafford, flushed and exhilarated, greeted newsmen with: "Would you believe they really went flying this morning?"

"This is just the first hurdle," she added. "We'll be much happier when it's all over."

At the home of astronaut Gene Cernan, Barbara Cernan called the Gemini 9 launch "the happiest thing in our lives."

She said she would "very definitely" like to see her husband, who is making his first trip into space, make another flight "if it is as nice as this one."

Mrs. Cernan said her husband, who plans a walk in space Saturday, called her earlier today, about three hours before the flight.

"It was a short conversation," she said. "He was in good spirits and said 'We are ready to go.'"

Start Preparing For Next Gemini

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The smoke around the launch pad barely cleared today in the wake of Gemini 9 before crews began clearing debris in preparation for launching Gemini 10, now scheduled to blast off July 18.

The Titan 2 rocket that will carry Gemini 10 and Michael Collins on a three-day rendezvous and space walk mission is due to be erected Tuesday or Wednesday.

Navy Cmdr. Young and Air Force Maj. Collins plan to rendezvous with an Agena target satellite and carry out a lengthy space walk by Collins.

Gemini 10 plans to rendezvous with a target satellite already in orbit — the Agena launched for the Gemini 8 mission March 16.

LOSSES GENERAL AGAIN IN GRAINS

CHICAGO (AP)—Losses again were general but moderate in the grain futures market today.

Wheat, rye and soybeans declined about a cent a bushel in spots. The feed grains eased small fractions at the extreme.

Brokers said there apparently was further profit cashing in wheat and soybeans particularly on reports of rainfall and forecasts of more. They said, however, that moisture in the winter wheat belt was scattered and seemed to have missed much of the major producing area in which it was most needed.

Wheat was ½ to ¾ cent a bushel lower after about an hour July 1.68½; corn ¼ to ½ lower, July 1.26½; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, July 68½ cents; rye unchanged to ¼ lower, July 1.23; soybeans ½ to 1 ½ lower, July 3.17½.

The news report from Washington Thursday that the Kansas wheat crop has been cut by 50 million bushels or more, perhaps as much as 100 million, is believed by some market analysts to have been warning of the government's official estimate.

Verne Williams always starts the day as postal custodian by raising the regulation flag, but Thursday he had to lower a small replica of the rebel flag first.

However evidence of some rebel feeling cropped up when the custodian of the post office flag discovered at 6 a.m. that someone had raised a rebel flag to the top of the post office flag pole.

Baseball Tourney Field Cut To Four

Galesburg, Alton Win

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — John Spigios, senior lefty, hurled a three-hitter and his teammates backed him with a 14-hit barrage as Maine South of Park Ridge walloped Rock Island 13-0 Thursday to advance to the semifinals of the Illinois State High School baseball tournament.

The game was called after five innings under the rule that if a team leads by 10 or more runs by that time, it is automatically over.

Maine South's Hawks, boosting their season record to 18-1, will meet Alton, 19-4, Friday (at 11:30 a.m.) and Galesburg, 19-5, and Glenbrook North 19-4, clash in the opening semifinal (at 9:30).

The winners will play for the championship at 4:30 p.m.

Spigios, running his mark to 11-1 struck out eight and walked three. The Hawks scored one run in the first inning on Rick Kilinski's double and then put together three-run innings in the third and fourth.

In the third, Spigios struck out, but catcher Tom Hartman's error on an overthrow of the dropped strike permitted two runs to score. Kirk Waberzick singled across another run.

In the fourth inning, runs came across on an infield out, a bases-loaded walk by pitcher Tom Moore and Augie Matajzels' scratch single.

Get 5 Unearned Runs

The Hawks collected six hits in scoring six runs in the fifth inning, five of them earned. Kilinski slammed a two-run homer. Doubles were smashed by Dave Strom, Bob Holz, Chuck Cook and Waberzick. The blows by Holz and Waberzick brought in one run each, another crossed on a single by Randy O'Hare and the sixth on a sacrifice fly by Russ Gibe.

In other games Thursday, pitcher Ben Alleva balked and Dan Weaver came home with the winning run that gave the Alton Red Birds a wild 7-6 victory over Chicago Austin in a quarter-final tilt.

Alton left 14 men on base, a tourney record.

Earlier, Galesburg advanced to the semifinals by downing Danville 3-2 and Glenbrook North moved up with a 10-0 romp over Murphysboro.

Jesse Ponce's second inning homer and Tony Enes' two-run double in the fourth were the only hits Galesburg got off Danville's John Zolt.

Phil Robinson and Bruce Menke, the winner who yielded one hit and struck out four in the last four innings, hurled for Galesburg.

Glenbrook's Spartans exploded for nine runs in the fourth inning of the curtailed six-inning game with Murphysboro. Seven of them were unearned as the Red Devils made three errors. The Spartans collected six hits in the big frame, including a two-run homer by Ray Larsen and a three-run double by Don Piggott.

Bob Gruver smashed a two-run homer for Alton in the fifth inning and singled across another run in the sixth as the Red Birds grabbed a 3-0 lead over Austin's Tigers.

Working On One-Hitter
During this time, Alton's Ron

Raley had given up only one hit, a double in the first inning by Lou Inendino.

At the start of the seventh, Jerry Hicks singled and Bob Strabel walked and that was all for Raley. Before the inning was over, Terry Webb and Larry Ducommun had gone to the mound and Austin had collected six runs.

Jack Kostuch singled in one run, Denny O'Connell doubled home two more; and Chuck Coughlin's single produced another pair for the Tigers.

Alton rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh. Dave Joutt drove in one run with a single and Dan Kennedy produced two with another single.

With Dan Weaver on third base and the heavy-hitting Gruver at the plate, Alleva was sent in to relieve Strabel. The call was for Gruver to be intentionally walked.

Alleva, after serving two balls, then balked on his third ball and Weaver trotted across with the winning run.

Radatz To Indians For Two Pitchers

BOSTON (AP) — "It hasn't been fun with a ninth — place team."

With that frank appraisal of his four years with the Boston Red Sox, relief pitcher Dick Radatz left for Cleveland Thursday after being traded to the Indians for two veteran pitchers.

"It's like starting life all over again — being born again," the 29-year-old pitcher said when he learned of the trade. "Naturally, I hate to leave Boston. I don't blame manager Billy Herman, or the Sox. I sort of anticipated the trade."

In return for the husky reliever, the Red Sox got Don McMahon, 36, and Lee Stange, 29, both right-handers.

Radatz, who had three outstanding years as reliever for the Sox in 1962-64, had a disappointing 9-11 record last year and this season made 16 appearances for a 9-2 record.

"Nothing Wrong With Arm"
"There's nothing wrong with my arm," Radatz said. "My trouble is mechanical and if I pitch the way I think I can, the Indians will win the pennant."

Killebrew Wild Throw Allows 7-6 Edge By Tigers

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Harmon Killebrew's throw on an attempted forceout at home plate was wild and let Detroit tied for three runs in the seventh inning to clip Minnesota 7-6 Thursday.

The Minnesota third baseman threw low on Bill Freehan's grounder, and allowed Al Kaline to score. Kaline had doubled in the tying run. Reliever Gary Roggenbuck then walked Dick McAuliffe to force in the third run and give Detroit a 7-5 edge.

Minnesota took a 4-0 lead in the second on run-producing singles by Earl Battey and Bernie Allen and Zolty Versalles two-run triple.

Jerry Lumpe's double drove in two Tiger runs in the third. Killebrew's eighth homer, his fourth in the last four games, raised the Twins' margin to 5-2 in the fifth.

Norm Cash doubled to open the seventh and after Kaline's double, Don Demeter bunted for a hit and Jim Northrup walked to set the stage for Killebrew's error.

Allen's Inside The Park Homer Allows 5-4 Edge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rich Allen smashed a 430-foot drive against the left-center field wall for a two-run inside-the-park homer in the seventh inning, leading Philadelphia to a 5-4 victory over Chicago Thursday night.

It was the Phils' fourth straight victory and their seventh triumph in the last nine games.

Left-hander Darold Knowles came through with another strong relief job, replacing rookie Rick Wise, and winning his fifth game in six decisions.

The Cubs had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the sixth with two runs on four singles and a sacrifice fly. But the Phils moved ahead in the bottom half when Clay Dalrymple bounced a perfect bunt down the third-base line squeezing in Tony Gonzalez.

Pro Football War Nearing Showdown

NEW YORK (AP) — The pro football war moved closer to a showdown Thursday when Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, said there was concern in both major pro leagues about lame duck players.

Rozelle's comments about reported talent raids of men under contract or option were made in an interview with the 15 NFL coaches were finishing their two-day meeting.

George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, and Vince Lombardi, coach-general manager of the champion Green Bay Packers, both voiced disapproval of the New York Giants' recent signing of kicker Pete Gogolak.

The soccer-style field goal played out his option with Buffalo of the American Football League and became a free agent May 1. The Giants announced his signing May 17.

"I didn't approve," said Halas. "I think good judgment was not used. I consider it derogatory to pro football. But that is the Giants' business."

"I did not like it," said Lombardi. "But what is done is their own business. Many others did not like it either."

There was believed to be general disagreement among the club owners over the Giants' move in signing the former AFL star.

"We got tremendous reaction from our fans and from our own players," said Wellington Mara, president of the Giants. "That is the reaction that interests us."

Gogolak's contract became official within the last few days. Commissioner Rozelle had 10 days to disapprove after it was filed. The 10 days expired and Rozelle did not reject it.

The signing of Gogolak touched off a series of reports that AFL clubs had contacted NFL stars offering contracts for the future. Oakland of the AFL announced it had signed Roman Gabriel, Los Angeles quarterback, for 1967 but the Rams also announced his signing. There have been repeated reports of contacts between AFL personnel and NFL players.

Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers of the AFL, said in Houston that at least 100 veterans of the NFL have been contacted by AFL owners. John Brodie, San Francisco quarterback, spent two days in Houston this week talking with Oilers officials but Adams said efforts to sign Brodie would stop if the Giants reentered in the Gogolak case.

Under pro football rules, a player can refuse to sign for a year, 1966, for instance, but still play with the team for the year. He becomes a free agent the following May 1. This is known as playing out the option. The AFL has been offering NFL players 1967 contracts to sign after playing out their options in 1966.

"There is concern in both pro leagues about the idea of contracting someone for the future who is at present under contract or option," said Rozelle. "In effect, he would be serving two masters. This could create chaos, a lame duck situation."

The lame duck phrase normally is used to designate an official who is finishing out a term, after he has been defeated for re-election.

When Lombardi was asked if any peace feelers had been made, he said, "I certainly would hope some overtures would be made by both leagues."

Four-Run Fourth Carries Yankees Past Chisox, 5-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Richardson's three-run double in the fourth inning and tight relief pitching by Steve Hamilton carried the New York Yankees to a 5-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox Thursday night.

Richardson's double capped a four-run Yankee uprising which wiped out a 3-1 Chicago lead and saddled starter Tommy John with his third loss against four triumphs.

The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Tom Tresh walked and scored on Elston Howard's double.

Tresh opened the Yankee fourth with a single and was forced by Hector Lopez and Clete Boyer brought home one run before Hamilton laid down a sacrifice bunt. Bob White walked to load the bases, then Richardson cleared them with his double.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rookie Don Sutton and veteran Ron Perranoski teamed up Thursday night and pitched the surging Los Angeles Dodgers to their fourth straight victory, 2-0 over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Wes Parker singled home the first Dodger run in the fifth inning, following singles by John Roseboro and Maury Wills.

That was the only run off Nelson Briles, who pitched the first seven innings.

Al Ferrara's pinch single off reliever Hal Woodeshick in the seventh brought home Lou Johnson, who had doubled, with the other Dodger run.

The loss was the sixth straight for the Braves.

The National League leading Giants went in front 1-0 in the first inning when Jim Davenport singled and scored on Willie Mays' double, and they clinched it with the outburst in the sixth inning off Atlanta's Denny Lemaster.

The Giants loaded the bases on infield hits by Tito Fuentes and Jim Hart and an intentional walk to Mays. Peterson then singled to left. The ball bounced past Alou and rolled to the fence for an error as all four runners scored.

Baldschun gave up eight straight hits before the string was broken when he hit Felix Mantilla with a pitch.

Pinch hitter Jim Gentile cracked a 3-3 tie with a bases-loaded single. Sonny Jackson singled in a third run, Jim Wynn and Dave Nicholson each stroked two-run singles and Rusty Staub capped the uprising with a run-producing double.

Yancey Forges Into Front In Memphis Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Bert Yancey of Philadelphia shot a seven-under-par 63 Thursday to take the first-round lead in the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament — and he said the putting lesson his wife gave him made the difference.

The 28-year-old Yancey scored eight birdies and had nine one-putt greens as he tied the record at the 6,466-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Trailing Yancey by three strokes with 66s were Bob Charles of New Zealand, Dale Douglass of Lakewood, Colo., and Gene Littler of La Jolla, Calif.

Next with 67s came Homero Blancas, Bob Ginsberg, Bruce Devlin, Jack Rule, Bob Goaly and Dick Lotz.

"I've had good first rounds before, but today I decided to forget about what I was shooting and just play golf," Yancey said. "I was concentrating and warding off thoughts about the score."

Yancey was hitting the ball well from tee to green, "but the big putter was the thing that did it."

"My wife gave me a putting lesson at the Colonial in Ft. Worth, and I moved the putter back about 18 inches. It really helped," he said.

Yancey sank five putts of 15 feet or more — two of them from 20 feet out.

His wife, Linda, 22, missed the big moment. She is at home in Philadelphia recovering from a broken foot.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus ran into trouble early in the round with a triple-bogey seven in a losing battle with trees, the rough and the out-of-bounds line. He pushed his tee shot into the right rough behind the trees, fired one out of bounds and finally reached the green in six.

Nicklaus finished with a two-over-par 72.

Judge Blasts Move That Freed Underworld Boss

CHICAGO (AP)—Chief Judge William J. Campbell of the U.S. District Court stepped back into his dispute with the Justice Department Thursday, saying it made a mistake in letting Gangster Sam Giancana go free.

The judge jailed Giancana for civil contempt of court June 1, 1965, after he granted Giancana immunity and ordered him to testify before a grand jury investigating organized crime. Giancana refused to talk.

Giancana was freed Tuesday, when the grand jury's term expired. Edward V. Hanrahan, U.S. attorney in Chicago, stated that, on instructions from his superiors, he was taking no immediate action against Giancana.

The gangster is reputed boss of the Chicago crime syndicate and a big man in the Cosa Nostra.

Judge Campbell, at a news conference he called Thursday, was asked if Giancana's release was a setback in the battle against organized crime.

"I think it was a mistake not to prefer some substantive charges against Giancana," he replied.

He reiterated that it was "unwise" for the Justice Department to order Hanrahan not to proceed against Giancana.

As for the effect of the inaction on the legal fight against crime, he said, the "generals" would have to answer.

Hanrahan, one of the generals on the Chicago front, declined comment.

Judge Campbell termed Hanrahan an able, conscientious prosecutor.

Newsmen brought up published reports that Hanrahan's resignation had been discussed, that he had bungled the case and that he had failed to use the immunity approach against a lesser mobster and three minor politicians in Chicago.

The judge replied that Hanrahan said he had no substantive evidence against the other four men. Campbell said he saw no reason why Hanrahan should resign and he felt the case had not been botched.

The judge said Hanrahan had planned to seek Giancana's indictment on charges of obstructing justice and criminal contempt. Campbell, a former prosecutor, said those moves should have been made.

Fred M. Vinson Jr., assistant attorney general, told Washington newsmen Wednesday the obstruction statute is designed to protect witnesses and the administration of justice rather than to force people to talk.

He also said the criminal contempt method is questionable in the case of someone who already has been jailed for what amounts to civil contempt.

Vinson told reporters the Justice Department "has active plans for Chicago that include Giancana."

Fire Damages House, Barn In Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — A large barn was completely destroyed and a nearby house was badly damaged in separate fires in Jerseyville Thursday.

The barn, owned by the Egelhoff Floral company and located at the rear of the Egelhoff property at the west edge of Jerseyville, was used for storage.

Firemen, summoned at 12:33 p.m., said the blaze apparently spread from a nearby trash fire which was left unattended.

No estimate of the loss, reportedly covered by insurance, has been made.

Early Morning Blaze

The interior of a five-room house occupied by the David Cooke family was severely damaged in an early morning fire, reported at 3:48 a.m.

Mr. Cooke, his wife and two-year-old child fled from the house after being awakened by dense smoke. The cause of the blaze has not been determined and no estimate of damage to the house, built less than a year ago, has been made.

The Cookes lost many of their possessions to the flames and are now living with relatives.

Auxiliary Makes $1,000 Donation To Holy Cross

Mrs. Frank Norbury, president, welcomed members of the Holy Cross Auxiliary and their guests at the June luncheon meeting at the Blackhawk Restaurant Thursday. The guest of honor for the day was Sister Mary Nazaria, administrator of Holy Cross Hospital, who accepted a check for $1,000 for hospital equipment from the auxiliary, as well as a personal gift from the members.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Cloyd Schumm has been named director of Volunteer Services for the hospital. A plea was made to members to respond to the need for volunteer services in many areas, in addition to the auxiliary-sponsored coffee shop.

Chief of Police Charles Runkel gave an interesting and enlightening talk entitled "Dangerous Drugs," pointing up the senseless crime among young people. Chief Runkel's talk was emphasized with a film.

Mrs. E. C. Ransdell is a new life member of the auxiliary, bringing the total life membership to 37. Other new members of the auxiliary are: Mrs. Thomas Dinnin, Mrs. Don Duncan, Mrs. Forest Dyer, Mrs. Mary Jolly, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Arvel Knapp, Mrs. James Lawler, Mrs. William Mitchell, Mrs. Ben Montee, Mrs. A. E. Schneider, Mrs. C. Clarendon Smith, Mrs. John Spinning, Mrs. Frank Harris, Mrs. Paul Norfleet, Mrs. Larry J. ## Shriver Blasts Dirksen's Charge Against Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen lashed the poverty program Thursday as "disastrous" and called on President Johnson to begin a thorough reappraisal immediately.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford Jr. joined in the condemnation, but the administration's anti-poverty chief, Sargent Shriver, fired back that the criticism was politically motivated and is largely groundless.

The GOP congressional leaders scolded the program at a joint news conference. Their springboard was a report by eight House Republicans that claimed abuses, scandals and mismanagement are destroying the drive against poverty.

Dirksen, an Illinois senator, praised the report and declared: "I have seen nothing in a good number of years that will so alert and alarm our people as to the reckless course the Johnson-Humphrey administration has now clearly laid out before us."

Ford, a Michigan House member took much the same tack, saying the people "must be told how frightfully, how disastrously, their dollars are being spent in this incredible, mismanaged, almost totally unproductive program of the Johnson-Humphrey administration."

Shriver reacted this way: "Senator Dirksen is, after all, the leader of the Republican party and he has to take the political position adopted by his party, whether or not he agrees with it."

HIKE DRAFT CALL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The August draft call for Illinois is 2,270, the highest since January, when it was 2,386.

John H. Hammack, Illinois director of Selective Service, said Thursday the entire call is for August is 32,600.

Government Plans Audit Of Many Tax Returns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just because you've gotten a tax refund this year it doesn't mean you're off the hook with Uncle Sam's tax collector.

The Internal Revenue Service said Thursday it plans full-scale office and field audits of the income tax returns of roughly 750,000 of the nearly 40 million taxpayers who already have received refund checks.

They'll be asked to produce check stubs and receipts to justify the figures on their tax returns and many could be directed later to surrender all or part of the refund.

Check Begun

The auditing already has begun and the bulk of it is planned during June, July and August.

In all, IRS plans to audit about 3.2 million returns of individual taxpayers this year, about the same as last year. Another 400,000 business returns will get the same treatment.

Although the service now uses computers, the number of office and field audits it conducts is limited by the number of agents it can deploy—about 12,000 last year and this year.

Actually the computers already have screened the more than 67 million individual tax returns received by IRS and have processed more than 39.5 million refund checks.

The computers are programmed to select for possible audit tax returns which show a large amount of income, varied sources of income and those with deductions IRS might consider out of line.

At Random

They also select a 10 per cent random sample.

From these, IRS selects about 5 per cent of the over-all total—those which one official said indicated the greatest possibility of error—for actual audit by a human being.

About 1.1 million returns were selected for audit this year before any refund was sent and many of these already have been completed.

Also scheduled for office audit—where a taxpayer is requested to appear at an IRS office or send proof of his deductions to IRS—are about 800,000 returns where no refund was sent or claimed.

Field audits—where an IRS agent visits a taxpayer's office or home—are planned on about 600,000 returns, mostly professional people who would have a difficult time getting their records to one of the service's offices.

Scientists Hail Surveyor's Feat

Achievement Boosts Space Plan 1 Year

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A tiny space voyager gave the U.S. lunar exploration program a huge boost Thursday when, against all odds, Surveyor 1 landed softly on the moon and sent a stream of striking pictures back to earth.

Cautious U.S. officials decline to predict whether Surveyor gave America a lead in the man-to-moon race.

They noted, however, that the Surveyor landing system was much more sophisticated than that of Luna 9, and also that the United States has wrestled all man-in-space records from the Soviets.

Russians Idle

If the Gemini 9 flight goes as scheduled from Cape Kennedy on Friday, it will be the seventh two-man crew to dart into space in 15 months. The Russians have not launched a man in that period.

Space agency officials said the next Russian cosmonaut shot should provide clues on Soviet capabilities and intentions. Until then, they don't want to forecast who will land on the moon first.

The camera was shut down at 7:20 a.m. after the first 144 pictures because the earth's rotation blocked signals from Goldstone tracking station on the Mojave Desert east of here. Stations at Canberra, Madrid and Johannesburg took over monitoring operational transmissions.

"The successful landing of a Surveyor spacecraft at the first attempt is a great achievement, the magnitude of which can be gauged from the years of repeated Russian failures before Luna 9," he added that the Americans "have now demonstrated that they have a mastery of the necessary basic processes for a manned landing, whereas gaps still appear to exist in the Russian technique."

Elated comments of "extremely excellent" and "I don't expect to see anything like this again in my lifetime" characterized the news conference, held at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where Surveyor's flight was guided. The project scientist, Dr. Leonard Jaffe, said of the pictures:

"They show a surface generally level, as expected, with objects that appear to be rocks and boulders, or fragments, from close to the spacecraft for as far as the eye can see, apparently to the horizon. Some appear to be a foot across. Some are much less than an inch. There are craters, one 10 feet across, about 25 or 30 feet from the spacecraft."

Slight Depression

Jaffe said a photo showing a shadow around one of Surveyor's three padded feet indicated that impact caused a slight depression, a few inches deep and about the same as would be expected of a landing on sandy soil on earth.

The first photos from Surveyor, or 1, most of them blurry, gave misty views of the moon's surface and showed legs and other portions of the spacecraft. They were first televised on a screen in the laboratory.

But later photographic prints produced by electrical impulses on film were far clearer and much more detailed. During the next 12 days hundreds more are expected, including color shots.

Confirms Theory

Scientists said that, in those pictures examined so far, there were few unexpected findings. They confirmed Ranger and Luna 9 indications that the Sea of Storms is level and firm.

This is a potential landing place for the manned Apollo later in the decade. It may have a thin layer of dust or soft soil but no deep deposits that could trap men or spacecraft, experts say.

Robert J. Parks, JPL's survey project manager, said it probably would support the 15-ton Apollo.

Scranton Vows Never To Seek Public Office

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton said Thursday he was not going to run for president in 1968 or at any other time, and never again would run for any public office.

"This is irrevocable," he said in a surprise announcement at a news conference he had scheduled to discuss his recent four-day trip to South Vietnam.

His announcement came only 11 days after a similar one about presidential aspirations from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Like Rockefeller, Scranton had kind things to say about Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan. But, Scranton did not go quite as far as Rockefeller, who suggested Romney as the top Republican candidate.

Boosts Romney

Scranton said he considered Romney "an excellent person."

"If he wants to run for president, I would give him a very thorough consideration as a candidate," he added.

In Lansing, Mich., Romney said in a statement: "I know he is well qualified to serve in important national capacities."

"Even though he has indicated he will not again stand as a candidate for elective office, I am hopeful he will continue to contribute in strengthening the Republican party and in serving the nation."

Throughout his political career, Scranton, who is ineligible to succeed himself after a four-year term as governor, has had a reputation as a "reluctant candidate"—one who needed repeated urging from party leaders to run.

This was true in 1960, when he was elected to Congress in his first try for public office; in 1962, when he was elected governor, and in 1964, when he made his late and futile bid to overcome Barry Goldwater as the presidential nominee.

"I'm not going to run ever again for public office under any circumstances," said Scranton, whose four-year term expires in January.

Ends Speculation

He said he was making his announcement at this time in

Dominican Voters Elect Balaguer By Huge Margin

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Joaquin Balaguer, a reform-minded conservative and one-time Trujillo favorite, won the Dominican presidential election Thursday night. The result came as a bitter election upset defeat for the leftist backers of Juan D. Bosch.

Crying "fraud," pro-Bosch demonstrators gathered in the streets but were dispersed by police and troops swinging rifle butts and clubs and using tear gas. The demonstrations may have been aimed at setting the scene for an organized protest by the Bosch party.

But such a charge would not be expected to prosper. The election was praised as "honest and faithful" by the 21 Western Hemisphere observers gathered here to witness the voting.

Huge Margin

Nearly complete returns, read over the government radio, gave Balaguer, of the Reformist party, 641,332 votes against 406,054 for Bosch of the Revolutionary party.

Balaguer's victory was fashioned out of an overwhelming triumph in the hinterlands, where he rolled up a margin of nearly 300,000 votes over Bosch.

Bosch won as expected in Santo Domingo, his main stronghold, but not by a margin needed to offset his defeat in the rural areas. The vote was 136,359 for Bosch, 61,349 for Balaguer.

U.S. Relieved

In Washington, officials showed relief at the indicated Balaguer triumph and looked for early withdrawal of U.S. and allied American troops from the Caribbean island republic.

There had been fears that a victory for Bosch might keep the country in political disarray. Bosch had support of leftist elements and Communists, among others.

As mounting returns spelled out defeat for the silver-haired Bosch, roving bands of young partisans ranged the downtown area shouting, "Bosch is a victim of fraud. We'll return to the command posts."

Bosch made a brief broadcast urging his followers to await the final results calmly.

But units of the Dominican armed forces had to be called out to help police restore order as hundreds of persons, mostly youths tried to launch a protest demonstration. The police and troops used their rifle butts and clubs as well as tear gas to disperse demonstrators. Several were arrested.

Norman Thomas, Dean of New York from Santo Domingo Thursday night and said he was sure there was no fraud although he was not pleased at the outcome of the voting. The 81-year-old Thomas observed the election as chairman of a liberal group.

Bosch encountered trouble even in his main stronghold, Santo Domingo. Although leading here, he ran far behind his smashing 1962 rate. He led in the national district 119,887 to 72,416 for Balaguer.

President Johnson messaged his thanks to Provisional President Hector Garcia Godoy for having "led the Dominican people through the turbulence of civil strife to the tranquility of free elections."

U.S. officials said the United States would be happy to remove its remaining 5,000 troops as soon as Garcia Godoy and the president-elect decide they are ready to ask for removal of the Inter-American peace force.

U.S. troops have been helping keep order in this troubled country since President Johnson sent in Marines at the height of fighting in the April 1965 revolution.

Washington said the revolt was being exploited by Communist conspirators and the Marines were here to protect U.S. citizens and property.

Osage Orange Picnic Tonight

About 300 persons are expected to attend the annual Osage Orange Picnic tonight on the campus of Illinois College. According to Mrs. Iver F. Yeager, general chairman, seven separate serving tables will be set up for various alumni, parent, student, church, community, and college groups.

Participants and guests are encouraged to "table hop" to visit others in addition to those in their own group, according to Mrs. Yeager.

Alumni began arriving earlier this week to attend festivities of the 137th year Commencement season. The Commencement play, Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," opened last night on the outdoor Ames Woodland Stage. A repeat performance will be given tonight at 8:45 p.m.

At about 7:15 tonight after the Osage Orange Picnic begins, an outdoor informal "pops" concert will be presented by the Illinois College Band.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning one of the table chairmen or 245-7126, extension 07.

One Million More Bombs Ordered For War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States plans to produce about a million bombs for the Viet Nam war during the final third of 1966, it was learned Thursday.

This massive output of explosives is expected to be achieved after newly established production lines reach peak capacity in early fall.

Already fresh supplies of a new low-drag, 500-pound bomb are being turned out. The first became available in April, sources said. This bomb has a fin which retards its plunge to earth and gives low-flying planes more time to escape the blast zone.

This month, the Air Force will begin receiving the first 750-pound bombs manufactured in a decade. These are used extensively in raids by B52s, recently equipped to carry as many as 64 per mission.

Other quantities of 250-pound bombs, used mainly by the Navy, are on order, and military officials are weighing a decision to procure new quantities of 3,000-pounders.

Sources said the decision to begin producing more 1½-ton bombs may come relatively soon and might indicate whether the United States is preparing to strike at more "hard" targets—possibly air strips or fuel storage facilities in North Viet Nam.

A million-bomb output during the last four months of the year would total roughly 300,000 tons—half the amount which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said should be dropped on Communist troops, supply stores, and suspected concentration areas all this year.

By comparison, American planes dumped bombs over North and South Viet Nam in 1965 at the rate of 480,000 tons a year.

Officials said the stepup in ordnance production, ordered months ago, does not necessarily mean an escalating or widening of the Vietnamese conflict. They described it as reflecting McNamara's preference for substituting firepower for manpower wherever possible.

Viets Seek U.N. Watch At Election

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The military regime of South Viet Nam asked the United Nations Thursday to provide observers for the Sept. 11 election of a National Assembly in a first step toward a return to civilian government.

President Johnson backed the request.

The 15 nations of the U.N. Security Council began consulting on the request but it ran the risk of a Soviet veto.

Ambassador Nguyen Duy Lien, the South Vietnamese observer here, (Viet Nam is not a U.N. member) made the request to Secretary-General U. Thant, who has been cool to suggestions that the United Nations supervise or observe elections in South Viet Nam.

Thant called in Ambassador Frank H. Corner of New Zealand, president of the Security Council this month, for a half-hour talk and gave him a copy of the letter. Later a U.N. spokesman announced: "The president (Corner) said he would discuss it informally with all members of the council."

Corner told reporters he did not plan to take any independent initiative on the request and did not expect Thant would either.

"But," Corner added, "he will be talking to other people just as I will."

In Washington, Johnson quickly joined fully in the proposal, U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg announced.

A U.N. spokesman reported no immediate reaction from Thant, and the secretary-general is expected to leave the request with the Security Council. There it would run up against the threat of a Soviet veto.

The Soviet Union and France have been insisting that the problems of Viet Nam be dealt with by the Geneva conference. The conference in 1954 settled the conflict between the French and the forces of Ho Chi Minh, president of Communist North Viet Nam.

Thant told reporters May 5 on returning from Europe that the question of supervising the South Vietnamese election was unrealistic because the "Soviet Union and many other powers would not agree to the United Nations entering the situation."

A U.N. spokesman pointed out Thant made his comments before South Viet Nam asked for U.N. observers. He suggested the request created a new situation.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese electoral committee is working on plans for the election of an assembly of about 150 members.

To Submit Plan

Committee officials said Thursday they have reached a number of tentative conclusions which will be submitted to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government next week.

One issue still to be resolved is the role of the assembly. It will be up to the government to decide whether the assembly will have legislative tasks in addition to its function—as specified by Ky—of drafting a constitution. Some critics of the premier hold it should be empowered to form a civilian government.

CLARK ASKS COURT TO DENY PROBATION MOTION BY PORCARO

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois attorney general Thursday asked a Circuit Court judge to deny probation to Frank (Porky) Porcaro, former state aid, until Porcaro repays money he owes the state.

The attorney general, William G. Clark, asked Judge William Chamberlain to withhold probation until Porcaro repays $3,745.71 he has admitted obtaining by padding his expense accounts.

Porcaro, who resigned under fire in March as Secretary of State Paul Powell's chief investigator, pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of bigamy and stealing from the state.

Judge Chamberlain referred Porcaro's request for probation to county officials for further investigation. Porcaro, 56, is free on $3,000 bond.

Clark also asked the judge that if probation were granted to Porcaro, that Porcaro be ordered to repay the money in monthly allotments.

Porcaro resigned his state post after leading a raid in February on a Champaign tavern to determine if University of Illinois students were using falsified drivers' licenses as proof of age. One of those arrested filed a $100,000 false-arrest suit.

One of Porcaro's wives has divorced him and the other received an annulment.

Purple Martins 20 Feet High Ousted By Snake

RUSHVILLE—Ed Degitz, who resides on South Liberty street, here, has been wondering where the purple martins which occupied his birdhouse had gone. The 20 foot high house was built 22 years ago by his son, Clarence, who was a high school student at the time. There are 24 apartments in the house.

Mrs. Delbert Roubush was visiting Thursday morning at the Degitz home and discovered the trouble. The house was occupied by a five foot long snake, identified as the "garden type."

Degitz terminated the occupant with a shotgun and is hoping the former tenants will be returning soon.

CARS DAMAGED IN LATE MORNING CRASH FRIDAY

Two cars were heavily damaged but no one was injured as the result of an auto accident at the intersection of South Diamond and West Morton at about 11:20 a.m. Friday.

Investigating city police said a car driven by 16-year-old Frank A. Clark of Mercedora was northbound, making a left turn onto Morton, when it pulled in front of a southbound auto, driven by 18-year-old Mark E. Antle of 615 South Fayette.

Clark told officers he saw the Antle car approaching, but thought he had time to make the turn.

Clark was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way. Antle was also issued a citation, charging him with exceeding the speed limit.

Both autos had to be towed from the scene.

Trial Jury Fails To Reach Verdict Early Friday

A 12-member Morgan county jury told the court they were unable to reach a verdict after more than eight hours of deliberation Friday morning and was subsequently dismissed by Associate Circuit Judge John B. Wright.

The jury was sworn in at 11 a.m. Thursday and heard testimony and arguments by attorneys until the final instructions of the court at 4:15 p.m.

The case involved a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor against Earl F. Cashmore of Waverly. The charge, according to the information filed, took place June 25, 1964, east of Jacksonville on U.S. 36-54.

Cashmore was represented by Attorney Harry G. Story and State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan represented the people.

Half a dozen witnesses were called by the attorneys throughout the one-day trial. Cashmore's plea of innocent was accepted by the court earlier and the trial date set several weeks ago.

Members of the jury were sent to lunch at noon but did not wish to leave the courthouse for the evening meal. Sheriff Harold Wright and a court bailiff hauled an armload of sandwiches from a nearby restaurant about 8 p.m. Thursday. Several members of the jury panel commented that they were hopelessly deadlocked as early as 7:30 p.m.

Judge Wright quizzed the jury foreman, Howard Odafer, at 10:30 p.m. about the chances of reaching a verdict, then ordered the jury back into deliberation. Judge Wright dismissed the jury at 12:20 a.m. Friday without a verdict.

No date for a new trial was set immediately. The request for a new trial must be initiated by the state's attorney.

Members of the jury were: Howard Odafer, foreman, Homer E. Baptist, Joyce Cowgour, Mildred B. Daniel, Ruth J. Dinsmore, Irene Gregory, Alice R. Heaton, Eula Hudson, Ernest Clyde Lewis, Thomas Martin, William Patrick and Barbara Woodridge.

Under interrogation by the court prior to dismissal, Foreman Howard Odafer said the deadlock of ten to two was apparent on the first ballot about ten minutes after entering the jury room and continued on subsequent ballots until the final attempt at midnight.

Judge Wright asked members of the jury not to disclose whether the ballot was for or against the defendant with possible interviews with newsmen. He explained that the disclosure and use in news stories could make it very difficult to secure future jurors should the case come to trial again on the same charge.
